With reference to PRC's detailed invitation to submit expressions of interest for engagement of consulting agencies for providing technical support in strategic planning, monitoring of plan's in selected sectors of state development published in newspapers / website on 5th April 2016 (Ref No. 5/Plan Review Cell/SPC/2016 dated 05/04/2016). Minimum Bids not received / qualified for further assessment, hence the below mentioned properties have been retendered with few amendments.

1. INTRODUCTION

With thrusts on thematic development, the respective line ministries/departments are issuing guidelines for preparation of specific development plans such as Health Plan, Education Plan, Water and Sanitation Plan, Agriculture Development Plan, Rural Road Development Plan, etc., In order to use resources efficiently and effectively, active involvement of the local governments, Vertical planning process needs to be transformed into a horizontal planning process, where local governments and other planning entities work together and develop plan.

Sectoral Plan- Convergence in Planning Process:

Sectoral plans on the other hand, are detailed documents describing the route, difficulties, traps and side roads that will lead to the achievement of states vision 2018 and the policy goals/objectives of a given sector. There are detailed situation analyses of the sectors, but more focussed to find the ways on how to achieve further objectives.

As all the sectors are dependent on each other thus Convergence based sectoral plans need to be developed to address various issue/ concern arising within the sectors. Such issue/concern may include better planning, good governance and improved public administration, improved services delivery, public works and natural resources management and coordination among sectors.

Sectoral plans describe the existing opportunities, constraints and actions within the sector and help to identify the way forward to achieve sectoral policy goals, Planners approach the way forward in two ways:

- (i) Initiate completely new program/activities in the sector, or
- (ii) Strengthening existing program by improving to make them more exhaustive.

The Plan Review Cell (PRC) anchored within the MP State Planning Commission (MPSPC), Department of Planning, Economics & Statistics, Government of MP (GoMP) is mandated to support GoMP departments in the design and review of their policy initiatives and programmes and, in line with this mandate, undertake or commission specialized research on issues relating to poverty, inequality, gender and social exclusion.

The decision on which of the two approaches (or on appropriate combinations to take) depends on the situation analyses and policy goals of the sector.
